

KIMMEL HOME AFTER LONG ABSENCE

State Historical and Natural History Society

Whose Disappearance
Created Sensation Refused Recognition by Mother

LS HIM AN IMPOSTOR

sts Ex-Convict Is Hired by Insurance Co. to Defraud
Her of Money

LES, Mich., Sept. 19.—George Kimmel, otherwise known as
J. White, believed by relatives to have been dead for 13 years, arrived here from the penitentiary at Auburn, N. Y., late today and was identified by dozens of his friends and associates.
Among those who identified Kimmel was his cousin, Mrs. Harry T.
who opened her home to the stranger and held a celebration on his return.

Kim-
mel's identification,
however, and his acceptance by other relatives, his mother, Mrs. Stella Kimmel, refused to see him tonight.
In 1898, after Kimmel's disappearance in 1893 his mother instituted in the St. Louis courts to secure insurance which she held on her life. A jury reached a verdict in her favor and declared Kimmel to be dead.

on this verdict one company paid Kimmel, on a $5,000 policy.
her company, which carried a policy on Kimmel, fought the case and carried the matter to the supreme court. Meanwhile this company directed a country-wide search for Kimmel and finally announced in court that Kimmel was at Auburn.

Whole Town at Depot.
Most of the population of Niles gathered to the railroad station to see Kimmel.
He left the crowds thronged the train expecting to see the prisoner, says he lived here 13 years ago.
Kimmel, who is 70 years old,
denied the expected visit.

Whether the man from the penitentiary, if he is the woman's son, insists upon the fact and so declares his mother of the $25,000 insurance, whether on facing the fact, he will declare he is not her son is the dramatic situation which residents hoped to see brought to a close.

A real Kimmel disappeared from home at Arkansas City, Kan., 13 ago. It was there that he had been seen while in youth, and entered business. His financial affairs were a success, and at the time of his disappearance.

DANGEROUS ROAD BLAMED FOR DEATH OF C. O. ACERS

blame was attached to H. B. ton, attorney of Pueblo, for the death of C. O. Acers, by the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon. The accident and subsequent resulting from the collision of a motorcycle which Acers was riding and automobile, driven by Brayton, morning at Fountain Garden.
The jury takes into consideration the list of roadblocks, the jury takes into consideration, it said in its verdict, the dangerous curve of the road at the point where the accident occurred.
The jury recommends that the commissioners put the road in condition at once. The recommendation carries with it the suggestion of building a bridge in line with the road, thus doing away with the curve at the point where the accident occurred. They ask that the commissioners remove the pile of brush that obstructs the view of the road.

Special to The Gazette.
Curtis a Member.
E. Curtis, president of the Colorado Springs Automobile club, was a member of the coroner's jury. J. E. was the foreman. The other members of the jury were: J. F. Crawford, Sam Sexton, F. F. Rudy and C.
McCoy. The verdict reads:
That the said C. O. Acers came to death from injuries received September 17, at a point 3 1/2 miles south of Colorado Springs on the Colorado highway and Pueblo road, as a result of collision between a motorcycle which he was riding at the time, and an automobile driven by H. B. Brayton of Pueblo. That the said collision occurred while the automobile was driving on the dangerous curve of the road where the same occurred, under such conditions as were due to the fault of the driver of said automobile, and that the jury recommends that the county commissioners put the road in safe condition at once by building a bridge in line with the road and remove the pile of dirt that obstructs the view of the road by the said bridge, and avoid similar accidents in the future.

REPORTS SHOW INCREASE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The
increase in membership in Scottish Rite Masonry bodies during the last year has been the greatest in the history of the order, according to reports submitted today at the ninety-ninth annual convention of the supreme council, northern district of the United States.

United States Senator Pomerehne, who is reported to be seriously ill. He is under the care of physicians at his home in Canton, O.

FRENCH PEOPLE ARE GROWING OPTIMISTIC

Strain Attendant on Moroccan Negotiations Relieved by Semiofficial Notes.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—The long period of national anxiety attendant on the Moroccan negotiations is drawing towards a satisfactory conclusion. The French people have been slow in accepting the optimism that has prevailed in Berlin for several days and it was only today, after a semiofficial communication to the press, based on Ambassador Camon's telegraphic report of his interview with the German foreign minister yesterday, that sufficient reasons appeared for the confidence that the six months uncertainty is nearing an end, that the tension was relieved.

A second semiofficial communication today says that although the question of the economic interests of Germany in Morocco appears to be on the eve of settlement, there remain other disputed points still to be settled.
Among these are the questions relating to consular courts and a system whereby the legations and consulates take certain natives under their protection.

France desires that Germany shall accept in principle the eventual abrogation of the convention of Madrid, concerning the question of jurisdictions in Morocco, and Germany shall not undertake to increase the number of her proteges while awaiting such abrogation.

The French, particularly the business world, have become weary of the delay, agitation and the confusing reports of what is likely to happen. It is the most serious controversy France has had with Germany since 1870 and the unity of the people and firmness and tenacity of the government toward a formidable neighbor, with Great Britain always a friend in the background, is regarded by foreign observers as worth the strain and worry that have been undergone. France's position in Europe, it is generally considered, has been greatly strengthened.

MOTHER KILLS TWO YOUNG CHILDREN AND SUICIDES

Special to The Gazette.
CANON CITY, Sept. 19.—Mrs. D. W.
Garrett, 44 years old, wife of a ranchman, today shot and killed two of her children, D. W. Garrett, Jr., aged 6, and Juanita, a daughter, aged 4, and then turned the revolver on herself. All three died instantly. It is believed that Mrs. Garrett committed the deed while temporarily insane.

The shooting probably occurred about 5 o'clock this afternoon, but was not discovered until half an hour later when the father and husband returned home from his ranch.
The Garretts came here recently from Greeley and are favorably known.
Their home before coming to Colorado was in Bristol, Tenn. Besides the husband, nine children survive. One of these, a daughter, who lived in Washington, D. C., was married in that city two weeks ago to Oscar German, a well-known architect of Baltimore, Md.
Another married daughter lives in Bristol while a son resides in Denver. The other children live here.
Mrs. Garrett had been under medical care for some time because of a nervous affection. She never showed any signs of despondency, however, and for this reason her husband is inclined to believe that she destroyed her own life and that of her two youngest children while temporarily insane.

REPORTS SHOW INCREASE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The
increase in membership in Scottish Rite Masonry bodies during the last

tory of the order, according to reports

HOLDING CLUB OVER WORKMEN IN CANADA

Manufacturers Threaten to Shut Down if Reciprocity
Is Carried

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—With elections but a day distant both the political parties in Canada have become perceptibly nervous. The party press and the political speeches are showing the strain of the hard fight and are less logical and more reckless than a week ago. Today a number of manufacturers suspended operations and ordered one of their workmen to deliver an anti-reciprocity address in their factory yards. The proprietors of a large packing plant stated to their workmen that if reciprocity carried they would have to close down. Notices of a similar character have been issued to workmen by a number of manufacturers in Canada. Antireciprocity newspapers more vehemently than ever are raising the cry that reciprocity means annexation. Speeches by American champions of annexation are being printed in big type on front pages.
The Liberals are warning the people to "vote for reciprocity and their own pocket" and denounce the annexation cry as a subterfuge to mislead the electors.

Each side claims the victory. A big vote is certain. Few wagers are being made. The prevailing odds are 3 to 1 that the government will be sustained and even money that the government majority will be 50 or over.

Leaders' Close Campaign

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—The popularly termed "reciprocity campaign" which legislation has been the most bitterly contested in the history of Canada, was brought to a close tonight when outdoor meetings in the French districts in this city were addressed by the two leading and strikingly contrasting figures in the contest, Sid Wilfrid Laurier and Henri Bourassa.

Both the premier, who naturally has been reciprocity's most prominent opponent, and the national leader whose unique opposition and propaganda probably have done more than any thing else to increase the number of question marks set against many of constituencies by political forecasters, were greeted with the enthusiasm typical of the politically susceptible French element of Montreal.

That reciprocity is the supreme issue
and that Thursday's balloting affords an unprecedented opportunity for adding the Dominion's development was the argument of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.
That reciprocity is undesirable was insisted upon by Mr. Bourassa. The folly of the government legislation for the nucleus of the Canadian navy and the question of perpetuating various rights and advantages enjoyed by the French speaking population of the Dominion, were also important factors in this campaign, he asserted.

STOLYPIN FUNERAL PLANS

KIEV, Sept. 19.—A complete change has been made in the funeral arrangements for Premier Stolypin. Before he died Stolypin expressed the wish to be buried at Kiev, and the emperor ordered that his wishes be respected.
Accordingly the body will be removed tomorrow to Pechersk monastery.
The funeral will take place there at 10 o'clock Friday morning with a religious service in the monastery churchyard.
The emperor sent a cross of white flowers as a tribute and the empress and dowager empress telegraphed condolences to the widow. Governor General Trepoft has issued a proclamation declaring that any acts of violence will be rigorously suppressed.

Emperor Nicholas, in a long note to the governor general, says that he and the empress have been deeply touched by the hearty welcome from all classes during the visit to Kiev, but that the joyous feeling has been darkened by the outrage upon the courageous champion of his trust.
"The universal expressions of indignation," continues the emperor, "convince us that all the right-thinking among the people on shared our feelings of sorrowful resentment. Their sympathy will be indelibly engraved on our memory. I command you to convey to the whole population of the southwestern provinces, our sincere thanks for the warm reception recorded us."

Wants Suit Hurried as Doctors Say He Can't Live 14 Days

Special to The Gazette.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 19.—Basing his request on the fact that his doctors have given him only two weeks to live, Fred Alken, a miner who is seeking to recover damages from prominent mine owners and operators in this district for alleged deportation during the last labor difficulty, today applied to the district court to have his suit brought forward on the docket. He told Judge Owen, who was setting the docket in the district court, that he wished to have the case tried before his death.

The court, after consulting the doc-et, was unable to find an open date prior to October 15, and accordingly set the case for that date, notwithstanding that it is outside the prescribed limit of time, predicted for the plaintiff by his physicians.
Nelson Franklin of Victor and a dozen other well-known mining men of the district are the defendants in the suit.

The committee appointed at the recent Governors Conference to appear before the supreme court of the United States in connection with the Minnesota rate decision. The governors on the committee are (top to bottom):
Judson Harmon of Ohio, chairman, Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska and Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri. The supreme court decision protested against rules that a state has no power to regulate rates and charges for intrastate commerce.

CHARGES CONCERN RESTRAINS TRADE

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Six Men in So-called Shoe
Machinery Trust

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—Six men connected with the United Shoe Machinery company were indicted today by the federal grand jury for alleged violation of the Sherman antitrust law.
Two indictments were returned alleging the maintenance of an unlawful combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade on the part of President Sidney D. Winslow, Vice President Edward Hurd, John Brown and William Barbour, Counsel Elmer P.
Howe and James J. Storror.
All except Mr. Barbour, who is a resident of New York, live in Boston.
All except Mr. Storror are directors of the company. Mr. Storror resigned from the directorate just before the municipal election two years ago, when he was a candidate for mayor, but he is one of the largest stockholders.
For a month the grand jury considered the evidence produced by witnesses who were brought here by special train.

THREE FAIRS ARE OPENED

PUEBLO, Sept. 19.—The eleventh annual Colorado state fair opened here today with more and better displays than were ever shown before.
A light rain which continued most of the forenoon kept the attendance down but left the track in fine condition for the race program.
For the first time in the history of the fair a night show is being conducted on the grounds.
Rambling Red, the favorite, won the 212 pace in three straight heats Best time 2:13 1/4.

GREELEY, Colo., Sept. 19.—The Weld county fair opened today with a good attendance. Racing and livestock judging contests were the principal features.

Thursday, "Potato day" will be the big day at the fair.

MONTROSE, Colo., Sept. 19.—The Delta county fair opened here today with the greatest number of exhibitors in its history.

CHURCHES OF CITY ARE UNHOSPITABLE

Great Opportunity Missed in Sunday School Work With Tourists, Says Texan

Lack of hospitality is losing for Colorado Springs a great opportunity to do good in Sunday school work.
This is the message that C. L. Dealy of Dallas, Tex., brought to the delegates of the El Paso County Sunday School association convention at the meeting last night at the Colorado city Methodist Episcopal church. Third and Lincoln streets. Mr. Dealy is the Sunday school field worker for the state of Texas.

Dealy, who has been in Colorado
for some time, said in his speech last night that the lack of hospitality to the tourists is a great loss to the city.
He said that the Sunday school work with tourists is a great opportunity to do good and that the city should take advantage of it.

Dealy would like to make a suggestion for you to follow next summer. Why the tourists come here, get them to all your meetings, with invitations that are more of a personal nature, and not broad and formal like a public invitation. Then when you have them at your meetings, make them feel at home.

Would Grade Sunday Schools.
Mrs. W. E. Fryhofer, who addressed the delegates at last night's meeting, would place the Sunday schools on graded basis, much in the manner of the public school system.

"We should divide our Sunday schools," Mrs. Fryhofer said, "in different classes, beginning with the primary and on up to the higher departments. Classify the members into classes as age and ability will permit.
Give them uniform graded lessons, and we will get better results."

Dr. J. R. Robinson made a talk in the evening on "The Best Way to Reach the Parents."

"The best way to reach them," Dr.
Robinson said, "is through the influence of the adult church members and Sunday school workers. Let those who are within the church work on the outside with those who are not and give them something of interest to do when you once get them started."

H. K. Wing endorsed the ideas advanced by Mrs. Fryhofer in regard to the grading of all Sunday schools.

Prayer Meetings Tonight.

Sunday school prayer meetings in all the churches of the city will be held this evening instead of a set program of speeches at a stated place, as has been the rule at the previous meetings of the week.

C. L. Dealy of Dallas, Tex., who took a part in last evening's program, will give an address at the meeting tomorrow evening at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church, on Fourth and Washington streets.

An announcement was made yesterday that those wishing to take part in the athletic meeting Saturday afternoon at Washburn field, must enter their names with J. W. Erps at the Y. M. C. A. building, by tomorrow noon.

ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION GREELEY POTATO BLIGHT

GREELEY, Colo., Sept. 19.—Eugene Grubb, "father of the Colorado potato" today sent an urgent telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson asking that experts be sent to investigate the potato blight in this district.

According to Grubb, damage to the crop in this region will reach $5 per cent. The blight, he says, has affected practically all the state. He estimates the Greeley and San Luis valley crops at only 15 per cent. The Roaring Forks-Carbondale crops at 50 per cent and the Montrose crop at practically normal.

The San Luis valley crop was planted with Greeley seed.

FIND MINE WHILE DIGGING A WELL

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Sept. 19.—
While digging a well on his ranch, 18 miles south of here, Daniel Bradbury opened up a 10-foot vein of ore, which he declares carries values in gold, silver and copper.

El Paso Represented at Meeting of County Officials in Denver

El Paso county will be represented at a meeting of the county commissioners and county attorneys of Colorado with the highway commission in Denver tomorrow afternoon, at which time further plans will be made in the attempt to get the appropriation made by the state legislature to the different counties for road work.

The three commissioners, J. P. Madden, H. Hutchinson and B. A. Banta, together with W. L. Strachan, county attorney, plan to leave tomorrow morning for Denver to be in attendance at the meeting.

"We should have a record attendance," County Commissioner Hutchinson said yesterday afternoon, "especially from the northern and western counties. El Paso county has an interest of $8,000 at stake, and we want to be there to take care of that. The meeting means that if there is any possible way of obtaining the money set aside by the state for road purposes, the counties want to get it."

Miss Clara Barton, the founder and for 20 years president of the American Red Cross society, who is critically ill
at her summer home near Oxford, Mass. Miss Barton is 90 years old.

GOV. SHAFROTH ADVOCATES CONVICT LABOR ON ROADS

International Good Roads Association
Then Adopts Resolution Demanding Necessary Laws

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Governor Shafroth of Colorado, at the International Good Roads congress and exposition today advocated the use of convict labor for building and maintaining public roads. At the conclusion of the Colorado governor's address the congress adopted resolutions demanding the enactment of federal and state laws for this purpose.

Governor Shafroth described the success of Colorado in using convict labor for the construction of highways and outlined the methods pursued by that state. In this connection he said:

"In Colorado we give each convict 10 days off for every 30 days' sentence.
In working on our public roads, and we have not lost a man by sending him out to do this work. The keep of the prisoners is less expensive to the state and the beneficial results to the individual convict are great. We should have state and federal laws compelling all able-bodied convicts to earn their liberty by work and they should receive one-third of their earnings for themselves and their families."

FWOYER STARTS TOMORROW

COLFAX, Cal., Sept. 19.—Aviator
Robert G. Fowler announced tonight that barring untoward accident he would resume his ocean-to-ocean flight Thursday morning. His reconstructed biplane probably will be ready for trial flights tomorrow.

Fowler expects to start at 8 o'clock
Thursday morning and to fly to Winnemucca, 274 miles by nightfall. He will make his first stop at Fallon, 152 miles from here. He will not stop at Reno, according to present plans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Neither C.
P. Rodgers, who is stalled at Midtown, N. Y., with a wrecked machine, nor J. J. Ward, who is at Corning, N. Y., was able to resume his coast-to-coast aeroplane flight today. Ward expects to get away tomorrow and Rodgers hopes to do so, but the mechanics, who are at work on his bi-plane, may not finish repairs by that time.

FILES INJUNCTION SUIT AGAINST CITY IN EFFORT TO STOP PAVING

"Unless Judge Sheeter interposes, we are going to proceed with the paving of the bids, and the preliminary work of letting the contract for the paving."

This is the comment that Mayor Avery offers in connection with the petition for a restraining order, filed in the district court yesterday morning by Mrs. Prudence E. Zobrist, in which she asks that the mayor and commissioners be enjoined from letting or entering into a contract for the work.

"It is a very unfortunate and almost malicious proceeding," said C. L. Mc-Kesson, city attorney.
The city council will open the bids at the time of its regular meeting this morning. Bids will be received at the office of the city clerk until 8 o'clock, according to Mayor Avery, just as if a restraining order had not been sought.
The injunction requested is directed against the city of Colorado Springs and names Mayor Avery, E. C. F.
Whitaker, J. A. Himebaugh, A. J. Lawton and E. W. Frost, commissioners, as defendants. Kinney, Kinsley &
Schreiber, attorneys, represent Mrs.
Zobrist in the case.

Mrs. Zobrist has property at the southwest corner of Pike's Peak avenue and Corona street. Among other things, she alleges in her petition that Mayor
Avery and members of the council

SPAIN FACING A SERIOUS REVOLT

Labor Movement Grows Into Disorders Resulting in Martial Law

GUARANTEES SUSPENDED

Government Takes Drastic
Step When Unions Decide on General Strike

MADRID, Sept. 19.—Spain is face to face with a crisis equal in gravity to that following the riots in Barcelona in 1909. The agitation and the power of the agitators on the masses have increased in proportion to the rigidity of the repressive measures undertaken by the government. What, at its origin, was purely a labor movement, now has developed into a revolutionary conflict, a commune having actually been proclaimed at two towns near Valencia, and the authorities driven out.

The affiliated trades unions have decided to call a general strike tomorrow in all of Spain and the government today decided upon the drastic step of suspending the constitutional guarantees throughout the country.

All meetings have been forbidden.
The military authorities, it is stated, officially will not assume control except in extreme cases.

Imperative Measures Necessary.
"The grave measure we have taken is imperative not only for the defense of the public institutions, but for society itself," said Premier Canalejas tonight.
"The suspension of the constitutional guarantees has been decided upon by the government in the presence of a movement unmistakably revolutionary and anarchistic in character—a movement which may be assumed, directed against all social order."

The authorities assert that the General Union of Labor, which proclaimed a general strike, represents only a limited number of workers.
The dispatches from Barcelona and Saragossa say that all is quiet in these cities.

Late dispatches from Valencia say the agitation in that city was renewed tonight. A mob threw up a barricade and derailed a train, while another mob tried to storm a convent. In the street fighting one woman was killed and several others were wounded.

It is reported that the residents of Alcoer, before the troops arrived, burned the public buildings, dynamited a bridge and cut the railroad. All police men in Madrid have been armed with carbines.

Premier Canalejas was called to the phone late tonight to report the situation to King Alfonso. On leaving the palace he told the newspaper men that the situation generally was better except in the Valencia region.

Proclaim a Commune.
VALENCIA, Spain, Sept. 19.—The inhabitants of Alcoer and Carcagente revolted today, drove out the authorities and proclaimed a commune. A strong body of troops was dispatched from here and occupied the towns, as well as Cullera, where yesterday a judge engaged in the trial of rioters was killed and several of his court officers wounded.

Valencia was comparatively quiet today, but a band of 500 men, many of whom are armed, are roaming over the country fomenting disturbances.
The presidents of several unions have protested against the action of the anarchists, declaring that they went on strike only in sympathy with their colleagues.

WANTED: ANOTHER SCALP

Murderer in California Prison, Sentenced to Die, Kills Another Condemned Prisoner

FOLSOM, Cal., Sept. 19.—Jake Oppenheimer, murderer, robber and condemned to die, added another murder to his list this afternoon when he killed Francisco Quijada, also condemned to die, with an iron bar in the corridor of the prison.

The killing was the result of bad blood that has existed between the two men for several months. Both figured in a recent attempted jail break and both were sentenced to hang under a new law which makes it a capital offense for a life-term prisoner to attempt a jail break.

Oppenheimer is one of the most noted criminals of the west. He has killed two men and figured in several attempted jail deliveries. He has been the most unruly prisoner in the history of Folsom.

"I just wanted to add another scalp to my belt," is his only explanation for the deed.

Only a few days ago Quijada informed Warden Reilly that he would cheerfully meet his fate on the gallows if Oppenheimer were hanged first.

"If they hang him first, I will willingly put the noose around my own neck," he said.

KIMMEL HOME

time of his disappearance he was looked upon as one of the leading bankers of the Sunflower state.

As far as known, no cause could be given for his strange act, as it seemed. All that could be said at the time was that he had forsaken a quiet and well-selected home and peaceful family for something unknown.

Detectives Put to Work

Detectives were put on his trail, and for weeks they were balked. Then it was found that he had stopped one night at the Baltimore hotel in Kansas City. A visit to the unmentionable places of that city was next heard of, but from that point the trail disappeared to be taken up again at St. Louis.

This is where a man, known as Andrew J. White, enters the story. He was found at the Auburn prison by the insurance company, and with all but one of two points his description tallies exactly with that of the man Kimmel. The color of the eyes differed for one, and then there was a long scar on the back of White's head that was unnatural to the man Kimmel. White explained it in picking up the thread of the story at St. Louis.

"I was stopping at a hotel near the Union station," he told when his depositions were being taken in the insurance hearing. "I was with some persons one evening, and was just returning to my room when they held me up. I resisted, and they struck me on the back of the head. I was dazed. My memory is indistinct, but one thing I recall is that I was taken to a hospital."

Went From Bad to Worse

From that time on Kimmel, or White, went from bad to worse. He said that at no time during the next few months could he recall his former home and life in Kansas. He was in numerous seances, served a sentence for larceny, committed for insanity, and finally ended with a sentence to the Auburn prison.

It was here, he said, that he recalled his senses when confronted by attorneys representing the insurance company. Going back to the time of the hearing he said:

"It was like a dream, still I could recall things that transpired during my career as a banker that put me between two forces. I wanted to communicate with some folks, and then again I was overcome with shame."

And the description of men, affairs and places given by White at the taking of the depositions bore out almost completely the contention of the insurance company that he was the real banker. He touched upon things of his boyhood days, and went back to the political affairs of his adopted town, Arkansas City. The attorneys for the mother contended that he had been "coached," and for this reason the suit brought by his mother against the insurance company never brought about a real explanation as to who the man White, posing as Kimmel, really was.

cial agents of the department of justice from all parts of the country. The indicted officials will be summoned into court within the next 10 days to plead to the indictments and furnish bail. The trial will not take place until winter.

William S. Greer, special assistant attorney general, said of the indictments:

Indictments Describe Conditions.

"Both indictments charge that the six defendants have been working through the instrumentality of the United Shoe Machinery company, which they have dominated and controlled in a way to make them as individuals criminally liable under the Sherman act."

The indictments first describe the shoe manufacturing business and the shoe machinery manufacturing business as they existed prior to February 4, 1899, and then set forth all facts pertaining to the merger on that date of the three old shoe manufacturing corporations—the Consolidated and McKay Lasting Machinery company, McKay Shoe Machinery company and the Goodyear Shoe Machinery company, formerly the United Shoe Machinery company—and the subsequent carrying on of the business under that name. Then is told the story of the oppressive uniform lease provisions requiring shoe manufacturers to purchase the United company exclusively on pain of having all their leases canceled and all the United machinery removed from their factories.

"It is further charged that this process drove other shoe machinery manufacturers out of business and effectuated by put all shoe manufacturers at the mercy of the United company."

NO INDIGESTION DYSPEPSIA OR SICK STOMACH

Take a Little Diapiesin Now and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Diapiesin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with noxious odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at your drug store, waiting for you.

Those large 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin contain more than sufficient to cure any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Stipulating that his young wife, Louise White Lawrence Suydam, should first enter into an agreement to marry Frederick Noble, the plumber's son, with whom she recently ran away from her home in Blue Point, L. I., Walter L. Suydam, Jr., offered today to free her by suing her for a divorce.

Suydam, his millionaire father, and a lawyer, called upon the young woman at the flat where she and Noble have been living, and made the stipulation as an alternative to never having a divorce suit begun. They demanded also that the agreement be signed by Noble.

Previous to their arrival, Mrs. Suydam complained of her husband's delay in starting the divorce proceedings. She said she had no intention of going back to her husband and wanted a divorce immediately. Young Suydam had hoped for a reconciliation, but finding it hopeless, began to consider the divorce suit. His one thought, he announced, was that the future of his wife should be provided for. His attorney suggested the marriage contract, which appealed to Suydam and his family, inasmuch as it would provide for the future of the elopers before the divorce proceedings were actually begun.

The Suydams had several consultations today, and decided that if the couple were willing to enter the agreement, that would be the best way to put an end to the unpleasant notoriety the episode had caused.

leagues at Bilbao, and had no revolutionary intentions.

Situation in 1909.

The last previous time when martial law was declared in Spain was in the summer of 1909, when the efforts of the government to put down the revolutionary outbreak culminated in the execution of Prof. Ferrer, a distinguished educator of antimaterialist principles.

The trouble, which began at Barcelona, was caused by popular opposition to the Spanish campaign against the Rif in Morocco. The calling out of reserves for the reinforcement of the army was a signal for a general strike and the beginning of mob violence. Barcelona was for a time at the mercy of a mob, which burned churches and monastic institutions. Much blood was shed before the disturbances were suppressed. This was late in July.

Early in August an attempt to create a general strike in Madrid failed. Ferrer was arrested, charged with being the prime mover in the revolutionary activity at Barcelona, was tried by court martial and shot October 12.

The government stamped out the rebellion, but the unpopularity of the Rif campaign, the storm caused by the execution of Prof. Ferrer, and criticism of the action of the government in maintaining the suspension of the constitutional guarantees at Barcelona and Girona for some time after the necessity of the course appeared to have passed, led to the resignation of the Maura cabinet, which was succeeded October 22 by the Moret ministry.

PRESIDENT ENJOYS DAY AT SAULT STE MARIE

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 19.—President Taft turned from politics today and spent an enjoyable afternoon in Saunt Ste Marie. He spoke from in front of the local armory, but confined himself to local topics.

He promised the people of the "Lock City" that he would give his attention to the water-power situation here and would see that the long-disputed subject was settled.

Many of the industries of the city have been retarded by the restrictions upon the use of water. Mr. Taft took a special interest in the locks on the canal.

Thoroughly conversant with the work on the giant water lifts on the Panama canal, the president was anxious to see some big locks in actual operation. On board a tug he was dropped 19 feet through the biggest of the locks and saw a number of ships lifted from the lower level of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan to the surface waters of Lake Superior.

Soon after his arrival at noon the president headed a procession of 30 automobiles through the streets of the city and was cheered vigorously.

He was entertained at the home of Governor Osborn, who met him at the train, and attended a luncheon of citizens where covers for 500 were laid.

The president spent the late afternoon at Fort Brady, reviewing the United States troops there. He left shortly before 6 o'clock for Marquette, where he will spend the night.

It was decided today to hold the funeral at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dr. J. W. Thompson of Topeka, Kan., formerly of Dodge City, a long-time friend of Mr. Madison will preach the funeral sermon.

McManigal, Chief Witness Against McNamara, Says He Has Broken With Wife

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—With the trial of John J. and James McNamara, accused of murder by dynamiting two weeks away, Ortle F. McManigal, chief witness for the state, announced today that he had broken with his wife, Mrs. Emma McManigal. Mrs. McManigal is claimed by the defense as a strong witness.

"What got me," said McManigal in his cell, "was her selling McNamara defense buttons at a picnic in Chicago last day. I read about it in the papers. If she wants to have anything more to do with me, she will have to come to me first."

With no emotion, McManigal went on, saying Mrs. McManigal would be 32 years old the day the trial of the McNamaras begins; that his son, Walter, would be 6 years old October 3, and his daughter, Evelyn, 8 years old on October 13. It struck him, he said, that many of the principal events of his life occurred in October.

McManigal has the freedom of a spacious cell, in one corner of which he has an exerciser with which he has managed to keep his weight down to 188 pounds. He has decorated the walls with pictures of Lincoln and his son, "Tad." Colonel Rall surrendering to Washington at Trenton; Joseph Jefferson, a number of prominent actresses, and a picture of a cowboy, holding a revolver at arms' length over the motto: "Live so you can look every man in the eye and tell him to go to hell."

Burns Boosts Dry Farming at Meeting of State Realty Men

At the banquet of the twelfth quarterly convention of the Colorado Realty Dealers Association, held at the new Vail hotel in Pueblo, last night, the following address was delivered by Secretary John T. Burns of the International Dry Farming congress, on "The Biggest Boost for Colorado Lands This Year."

Burns' Address.

Seven years ago W. S. Pershing, country surveyor at Limon, walked into the office of the Colorado State Realty association in Denver, and exhibited to the speaker, then secretary of the association, a sheaf of alfalfa and a bundle of wheat, both of which he said had been grown within six miles of Limon, without irrigation. He said that there were hundreds of acres in the same districts under successful cultivation that he called "dry farming."

The secretary had been boasting Colorado irrigated land so long that he questioned the veracity of the statement. It did not seem possible that what had been looked upon as the waste country east of Denver was in reality a farming district. He had been reading statements by H. W. Campbell and others about what could be accomplished by dry farming, but like the average Coloradan, was so thoroughly prejudiced in favor of irrigation that he accepted Mr. Pershing's statement with a smile, also an invitation to visit Pershing's ranch. His visit was made within the next few days, resulting in the partial conversion of the secretary of the State Realty association to a belief in east Colorado lands and their productivity.

Today the man who asserts that dry farming is a failure or a myth makes himself ridiculous in the light of facts. I am announcing on the program of this banquet to talk about the greatest boost for Colorado lands this year, the Dry Farming congress at Colorado Springs next month.

I do not wish to appear in the light of boosting dry farming lands, because it has long been charged against the Dry Farming congress, although the charge is without foundation, that it was organized by land men for the purpose of booming a lot of worthless unirrigated territory. The Dry Farming congress has, however, lived and progressed rapidly along legitimate lines of education. It does not exploit any special territory to its advantage of any other. Its work is educational, and political to the extent that it enters into national and state efforts to secure legislation in favor of more liberal appropriations for dry farming experiments or for better land laws, particularly insofar as they affect the dry farmer.

Accomplishes Important Work.

Dry farming demands the very highest type of citizenship, therefore booming or calling attention to the advantage of the dry farming districts in this or any other state, this congress is accomplishing an important work along the line of enlightenment.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists in nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents vomiting, and in every way contributes to a strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

Dry Farming a Scientific Fact.

Dry farming is a practical and acknowledged system. The term, dry farming is now a recognized scientific term, descriptive of agricultural operation with less than 20 inches of net precipitation.

Most of the attacks that are made upon dry farming are of the old story recently going the rounds of the South Dakota press, denouncing the system and making fun of its advocates. The article was signed "Hayseed Harry."

Investigation proved that Hayseed, like most of the other dry farming knockers, had for 20 years been the clerk of the county court in the Black Hills country and had never touched a plow in his life.

Some government bulletins damn dry farming with faint praise, and one recently issued and given wide circulation, made the statement that the department does not yet know enough about dry farming to make any definite statement in regard to it. That was because the department men are afraid to tell all the truth about dry farming. The average department man is first class in the art of making a statement that will not get him into any trouble.

The real estate men of Colorado should spend every possible hour from now until October 15 encouraging the farmers of the state to come to Colorado Springs October 15 and there study the situation. There will be hundreds of farmers from every point of the compass assembled at this convention, the most brilliant and successful men among the farmers themselves will be on the program. The leaders in agricultural education from practically all western colleges, the ministers of agriculture of all provinces of Canada and representatives of the agricultural departments of many nations, will be there to discuss and study cooperatively the great problem before us.

It is time for the merchants and bankers of Colorado to awake to the fact that they are losing millions of dollars annually by encouraging the settlement of the nonirrigated districts.

What to Do.

Irrigation is alright, but when we have run the last drop of irrigation water through our ditches, less than 15 per cent of Colorado's great agricultural area will be under water. What then are we going to do? Are we going to prevent the enlargement of transportation and manufacturing interests by limiting the market? To do that would seem a most foolish policy, and I believe that you all agree with me.

It costs money to locate ignorant, improvident, uneducated and unprofitable farmers in any country, but the contented, successful farmer is an asset commercially.

It is up to you men of Colorado to take advantage of the results to be gained from this congress and the exposition. The congress does not want to boom the dry lands of Colorado, but we want when we close that great convention, to be able to say that we have accomplished the greatest thing of our people. First, the education of more farmers to success. Second, the creation of greater public confidence in dry farming as a system and the establishment of public sentiment against careless farm operation. Third, to establish in the mind of the home-sick in the east a stronger belief in the dry farming districts of Colorado and the entire west and the encouragement of more homeseekers to locate on these plains.

Gentlemen, the people of Colorado Springs invite you to cooperate with them by personal participation in this congress, and by encouraging every farmer who has successfully produced one dollar's worth of dry farming crops this year to come with his exhibits and help show that Colorado is not behind her sister states.

Already space has been reserved representing Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Wyoming, Utah, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Oregon, and the requests for entry blanks and delegate certificates indicate that the Sixth Dry Farming congress will be the greatest agricultural convention ever held in this country.

Bring the ladies with you to participate in the Farm Women's congress, and partake of the hospitality of Colorado Springs, the most beautiful, the most hospitable and the most enthusiastic city in the state of Colorado.

MISSIONARIES EN ROUTE TO CHINA VISIT HERE

Speak at Mass Meeting Held Last Night at First Baptist Church.

Depart Tonight

A public mass meeting was held in the First Baptist church last night to welcome the party of missionaries who arrived in this city yesterday at 2 p. m. over the Rock Island from Chicago en route to their posts in the Orient.

Dr. C. E. Thompson, a medical missionary, is in charge of the party and made the principal address at the meeting. He told of his experiences in the far east. He is stationed in the western part of a island and is the only physician in a region populated by 4,000,000 people. He has charge of a small hospital but it is very poorly equipped and in his single night he pointed out the need of a trained nurse. It is in this region that the uprising is taking place. Dr. Thompson said that a number of foreigners were putting a million dollars into the region and the government had taxed all of the people to meet the expenses of this undertaking. The natives resent this and have started fighting all foreigners. It seems to be a war against foreigners rather than against dynasties.

The others who spoke last night were: Mrs. Thompson, the Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Bromley, East China; the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Jensen, West China; the Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Graham, West China; the Rev. and Mrs. F. S. Smith, West China; Miss Irene Chambers, West China; Miss Martha D. Woods, East China; Miss M. E. Craft, South China; Miss Margaret Hubbard, Japan; Miss M. J. Joffe, Japan; and Miss Pearl Bruce, China.

Give Reasons for Going.

With the exception of three, all the missionaries are making their first trip into the field and the majority of them told the reasons for their entering into this work. The principal reasons seemed to be that it was a result of their earlier training and of their parents' wishes. The most of the party are college men and women and are fitted in every way to do the required work. Many of those assigned to the eastern part of China are in a field that is practically new and many of the posts are a two-months journey from Shanghai, showing the slow methods of travel.

This morning the party will go to North and South Cheyenne canyons and Seven Falls. After lunch they will be taken on an automobile ride through Colorado Springs and the Garden of the Gods. Later in the afternoon they will make the trip to the summit of Mount Manitou.

The party will leave for the west in their special car tonight at 6:35 o'clock over the Santa Fe.

Deaths and Funerals

Funeral services of Gottlieb Walz, aged 80, who died at his home, 315 East Monument street, Monday afternoon, will be held from the German Lutheran church tomorrow at 3 p. m. Tomorrow night Mrs. Stock and Miss Walz will leave with the body for Chicago where it will be interred in the Forest Home cemetery.

Miss Ella Winger, aged 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Winger, 519 West Bijou street, died at her home about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

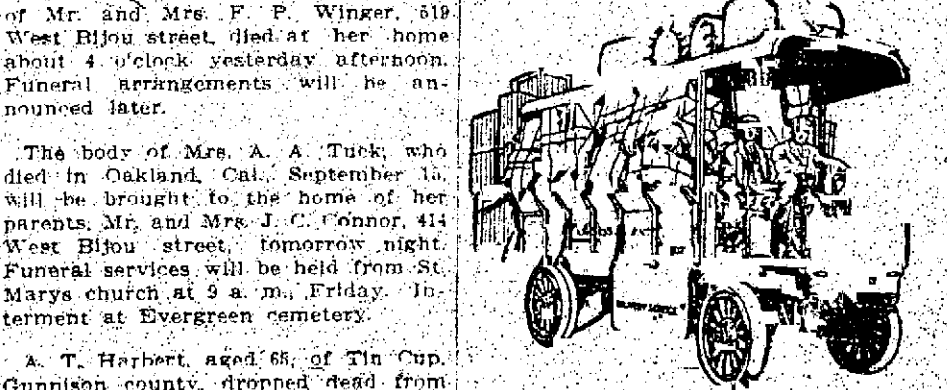

The body of Mrs. A. A. Tuck, who died in Oakland, Cal., September 11, will be brought to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Connor, 414 West Bijou street, tomorrow night. Funeral services will be held from St. Mary's church at 9 a. m. Friday. Interment at Evergreen cemetery.

A. T. Harbert, aged 68, of Tin Cup, Gunnison county, dropped dead from heart disease Monday, September 11. Mr. Harbert was well known here, having a brother, H. M. Harbert, residing in this city. He leaves a mother and sister living in Kansas. He was former assessor of Gunnison county and mayor of Tin Cup. Mr. Harbert was buried at his own request in the hills near his home.

H. Comparte, aged 37, of Marshalltown, Ia., died early yesterday morning at 1225 North Wahatch avenue. He had been here only a short time.

NATIONAL CONSERVATION

EVERY man interested in his own welfare as a citizen and in the welfare of his children and his children's children feels, as a matter of course, that it is the duty of the Government in all its branches—national, state and civic—to protect and promote his interests. Consequently, he must feel, if he has ever given the matter the slightest thought, that in the conservation of natural resources, the one object to be sought is the advancement of the general public welfare.

But, widely as in the last few years has spread the gospel of conservation, there are many who do not understand the issues that have been raised as a result of the effort to conserve the natural resources of the nation for the benefit of the public. To such of these as The Gazette may reach, and particularly to those delegates from El Paso county to the forthcoming Public Lands convention in Denver, who are confessedly unfamiliar with the questions it will thresh out, this editorial is addressed.

It is necessary at the outset to revert for a moment to the past—the not very distant past when certain clear-thinking, far-seeing men came to sudden realization of the fact that, through lax administration of the public lands, the time was fast approaching when a vast heritage, belonging to the people of this generation and of those to come, would have passed forever and irrevocably from their possession and into the hands of self-seeking, conscienceless monopolists. When their eyes were opened they found that already, through railroad grants, sale and entry, natural resources worth hundreds upon hundreds of millions of dollars—timber, coal and oil lands chiefly—had passed into private hands virtually without compensation; that already huge monopolies, capable of exerting and actually exerting oppressive power upon the people, had come into existence.

They found that this process was going forward with feverish haste; that if it were not checked it would be merely a matter of a generation or two before the people would have been divested of every vestige of interest in the timber and mineral resources which are properly a portion of their collective wealth, and that these immeasurably great riches would have fallen into the hands of a few, to be used by them to swell their already swollen fortunes. And they found, above all else, that there was in process of formation, and already well advanced, a water-power monopoly which, by its proposed acquisition of the great water-power resources of the remaining public domain in the West, would come to hold in the hollow of its hand the industry of the nation, a monopoly a thousand times more powerful than any now in existence, and capable of reducing the nation to absolute industrial slavery.

BEGINNING OF CONSERVATION MOVEMENT.

This was the situation, perceived by then President Roosevelt, which gave birth to the so-called Conservation movement, which in its simplest terms is an effort to protect the remaining natural resources of the nation from being squandered. Prior to this time President Cleveland, recognizing the danger of the early extinction of the country's forests, had set aside one tract of timber land in California as a "national preserve," but Roosevelt, in ordering the withdrawal of great areas of forest land in all parts of the West, gave the movement for conserving the natural resources its real initial impetus. With James R. Garfield as Secretary of the Interior and Gifford Pinchot as head of the Forestry Bureau, his administration put into effect the policy of Federal control and administration of the public domain.

The fundamental theory on which that policy is based is that the natural resources to which the Government still retains title are the people's property; that the public welfare—which is identical with the national well-being—is the one consideration by which their administration or disposition must be guided. And the fundamental principle requisite to the carrying out of that theory is that control of these resources must rest in the National Government instead of the individual States. Why? Because in the administration of their own public lands and in the administration of Government lands within their borders the various States had conclusively shown their utter inability to handle this problem in the public's interest. The public lands were the spoils of grafters; their exploitation the fee for political services. By fraud and trickery great combinations of capital were gobbling up timber land, coal tracts, water power sites, every resource of value, present or prospective, with the aid and connivance of the politicians using the instruments of popular government to rob the people.

FICTITIOUS ISSUE IS CREATED.

Immediately, of course, there arose the shrill squeal emitted by Special Privilege whenever its feet are stepped upon. The Government that first withdrew from entry the forest lands, then coal and oil lands; then water power sites, as successfully the need of protection for all these resources came to be recognized—was encroaching upon the private preserves of the monopolists and their politician-leeches. It was depriving them of plunder worth untold millions just as they almost had it in their grasp. Manifestly, Special Privilege could not say to the people: "Those fools at Washington, who have the crazy idea that the Government is for the benefit of the people, are preventing us from working a rich graft." But some issue had to be created if the plunderers were ever to resume their interrupted work of spoliation, and forthwith arose the cry of "State rights."

"The Government is usurping the sovereignty of the individual States over the land within their borders," was the frantic howl of the land-grabbers. "It is depriving the States of their just tax revenues from these lands; it is retarding the development of natural resources and the growth of industry. A Federal bureaucracy seeks absolute control over land which belongs to the people of the States in which it lies. The eastern States were permitted to administer their public lands in their own way; shall the West now be deprived of this privilege?" This is the issue today, not a real issue, but a fictitious one, created simply to serve as a cloak under cover of which Special Privilege and its political allies in the Capitals of the public lands States of the West hope to accomplish their nefarious designs.

What the Government seeks is simply to insure to the people that they shall get their just share in the benefits that may accrue from the exploitation of the remaining resources of the public domain. If it be by sale, that the purchase price shall be fair; if it be by lease, that the terms shall guard the people, not only now, but permanently, against extortion and monopoly; in short, that a few shall not be permitted to acquire for their own private use and benefit the wealth that belongs to the many. It is an object whose achievement is of vital importance to every citizen, and the humbler his position in life the more it means to him that this policy become a settled principle of government.

CONTROL BY GOVERNMENT IMPERATIVE.

The man who stands for Federal control of the natural resources stands with Roosevelt and Pinchot, whose fidelity to the public well-being none dare question. The man who stands for State control, whether he means to or not, is aiding and abetting the schemes of those who will have a finger, yes, both hands, in the pie when, should they succeed in bringing about this result, the Government is compelled to relinquish the disposition of the public lands to the tender mercies of State governments which have never yet shown either inclination or ability to serve the people, whose servants they are supposed to be. He will be aligned with the "Morganheims" and the "Ballingers," with the timber-thieves, the coal land-grabbers and the water-power monopolists.

One who sincerely believes in Conservation and what intelligent person does not must perforce believe in the present policy of Federal control, for the simple reason that this is the one system, as matters stand today, whereby the people have assurance that their interests will be safeguarded. It is not a question of Federal versus State rights, but of public welfare against Special Privilege. On this ground the delegation from this county to the so-called Public Lands Convention in Denver should adopt a platform advocating National Conservation. There may be among the sincerest conservationists differences of opinion as to just how the problem of protecting the people's interests in the public domain without unduly retarding its development can best be solved, but upon this principle and certain general administrative policies there can and ought to be complete accord.

THE SPECULATOR

From the St. Louis Times.
The average speculator is a man of exuberant spirit, or mercurial temperament, and does some unique things. He can take a large supply of enthusiasm or more limited precognition than any other class of individuals, and rush to extremes with a greater disregard of consequences than the man in any other trade or profession. And when the consequences hit him—well, he shifts sail and runs just as cheerily in the opposite direction, sometimes.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

"PROTECTION IN THE PARK"

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The letter appearing in the Open Parliament of yesterday's Gazette under the caption, "Protection in the Parks," and signed "A. J. Blood," describes an entirely different episode from my experience in Monument Valley park, to which I referred in my letter appearing in Sunday morning's Open Parliament under the same heading. As the gentleman referred to me by name, in his letter I was anxious to inform him that he was in error as to my identity. However, I was unable to do this, as the address he gave, 625 North Tejon street, is a fictitious one; there is no such number on North Tejon street, nor in the city directory. The fact that the man gave a fictitious address, and probably fictitious name, is proof that his letter was not written with honorable intent and that the statements made are not to be relied upon.

To justify my own self-respect, and to give an explanation to those who know me in Colorado Springs, I wish to state that the letter signed "A. J. Blood," in the Open Parliament of Tuesday's issue of The Gazette, is utterly untrue as regards myself. The remarks and behavior of the man who accused me were so offensive that I could not give details in my letter to The Gazette.

The only conclusion to be drawn is that the reply to my letter was written with malicious and spiteful intent by a coward who has hidden his identity in such a manner that it is impossible to obtain redress.

Sunflower Philosophy

This is the corner of the dead. The grass is sighing as it waves. The night is falling as I tread among the low neglected graves. I knew the man who slumber here, who, silent, wait the judgment morn, each resting on his pauper's bier—the harvest home of Barleycorn. I knew them in the glided barge, and heard them sing the night away; but now, beneath the autumn stars, the gill has turned to gravestones gray. I knew them ere they learned the woes that follow wassail, and the scorn; and here they lie, in ghastly rows, the harvest home of Barleycorn. I knew them when they had their dreams of honor, usefulness and fame; and now the silver starlight gleams upon their hermitage of shame. And other revelers may keep their vigils with the drinking horn; but through the night the dead men sleep, the harvest home of Barleycorn. No weeping widows seek this place to pray above their loved and lost; no mother bends her pious face above the dead hands which crossed. Here desolation, religion and bonds, and all the landscape is forlorn. The dead men in their solitude—the wind-tosses of John Barleycorn.

THE CHIT CHAT

BY RUTH CAMERON

I had rather stretch my arm or rise from my chair than be served by one who does it not for love.—Emerson.

The maid problem was on the tapis.

One woman with a family of three complained bitterly that she paid her maid five dollars and a half a week, and out all the washing, did all the upstairs work herself and even then received very poor service.

Another indignantly related how a domestic sent out by the employment bureau to look her over, calmly refused to engage herself because there were two rooms with carpets, instead of hardwood floors, and because the family was too large. The family consists of herself and her mother.

A third disconsolate house mother, with the abnormally large family of four, told of her absolute failure to get any maid at all, although she offers six dollars a week, and all the washed things and does some of the cooking herself.

The social worker came in at this stage of the conversation. The social worker lives alone but has a very large, old-fashioned house and a pack of "company." She pays her maid fifty cents a week less than any of us, puts none of the washing out, and does absolutely nothing about the house herself. Her maid, besides the regular three meals, often serves afternoon tea or chocolate to evening guests. And she has a thoroughly capable, efficient and good tempered maid who has been with her for three years, and who was recommended to the place by another maid, who served the social worker for five years and left to enter a convent.

The social worker related this state of affairs.

"It was a damned miracle."

"I don't see it," said the social worker.

"You pay fifty cents less than any of us and you get very much better service. What do you do?"

The social worker thought a moment. "It is this: I do what is different, it's this," she said. "Besides giving my maid her board and wages, I try to share with her some of my interests, and to take a kindly interest in her affairs. I have a good deal of unusual experience, you know, in my work. Well, if I am alone, I often talk to Mary about them when she is serving me, or when we are looking over the pantry and the other things, and planning the work, or in the evening, several times she has helped me when I have had investigating to do which required two persons."

"In return she tells me about her health and her family in Ireland, and shows me her sister's picture with her four children in her lap and her husband standing behind the chair with his feet crossed, and asks my advice about her plans for the future and so forth."

"But doesn't she take advantage of your kindness and get presuming and impertinent?" broke in the lady with the inefficient maid.

The social worker smiled. "I don't think dignity and kindness are incompatible," she said, "and I try not to have them so. My maids have always been most respectful."

"Well, that may do very well with Mary," said the lady with the abnormally large family of four, "but I think she's an unusual girl. Isn't she the kind that would stay anywhere if anyone was half-wat decent to her?"

"She was in five places in two months before she came to me," said the social worker.

"Oh," said the lady with the abnormally large family, and then—"Oh, look, there goes the L's new touring car. Why I thought it was much larger than that from all I'd heard about it."

And the servant problem was off the tapis, for the day.

Although the social worker's recipe for getting efficient service at a reasonable price did not seem to appeal to those who collected it, others may perhaps appreciate it.

To their attention it is respectfully submitted.

Seven National Song Writers

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

No. 3—ROUGET DE LISLE

Rouget de Lisle is the national song writer of France. He gave to that nation its immortal "Marseillaise," which has stirred the innermost soul of the French nation for more than a century. Four days after France had declared war against Austria and Prussia, in 1792, a banquet was given by the mayor of Strasbourg to a company of volunteers about to join the army. Enthusiasm ran high and many intensely patriotic speeches were made. One of the guests was De Lisle, who was then 32 years of age and a captain of engineers.

De Lisle at this time enjoyed quite a reputation as a writer of verse, some of which he had set to stirring music. The mayor, in the course of the evening, suggested to the captain that he write a war song for the soldiers who were about to proceed to the front. With his heart aflame with love for his country he was enthusiastic at the suggestion.

Upon arriving at home at a late hour he began to work at both words and music. He seemed inspired, and both verse and melody grew rapidly into perfection. The words were entirely original, and in a measure the music, although he had borrowed his idea from an oratorio of "Esther," which had unconsciously fitted itself to the rhythm and swing of the verses.

He named the song, upon its completion, "The War Chant of the Army of the Rhine." He sang it for the volunteers and they were delighted with its spirit. Copies were printed and distributed all over Alsace. It was long afterwards before it reached Paris.

On June 25, 1792, a banquet was given at Marseilles in honor of a company of volunteers that had been raised by the city council upon urgent request. In the midst of the enthusiasm attendant upon the enlistment a man arose and sang the song composed and written by De Lisle. The excitement was tremendous and the following day one of the newspapers of Marseilles printed the words and gave it the title of "The War Chant of the Armies of the Frontier." When the Marseilles troops marched to Paris to join their division, they took with them copies of the song and sang it along the way. They entered Paris July 12, 1792, singing with splendid effect their war chant. It became popular at once and was sung everywhere. When the Tuilleries was stormed on August 10, the mob sang it in their mad zeal. Paris was not content with its second name, and christened it "The Marseillaise" in honor of the place from which it had come.

"The Marseillaise" was the song of the French republic, the song of liberty and revolution, and has been the national song of France ever since.

During the first empire and the restoration, the song was prohibited, but when the revolution of July swept over Paris, the "Marseillaise" was revived and was on the lips of all the people.

De Lisle was only a moderate republican, and was no doubt unfavorably affected by the use made of his song when the revolutionary spirit pervaded the land. He was thrown into prison, but the counter revolution set him at liberty. He was offered a pension later by the French government, but refused it. He died at Choisy on the 28th of June, 1836. He wrote a few other songs of the same character, none of which attained any degree of popularity. He also produced a play or two and some translations. His chief literary monument is a slender and rather rare little volume entitled "Essays in Verse and Prose." This contains the Marseillaise, a prose tale of the sentimental kind, called "Adelaide et Monville," and a collection of occasional poems of various styles and dates, from which the author's poetic faculty can be fairly judged.

Oddly enough, poor Dietrich, the mayor of Strasbourg, was compelled to walk to the scaffold, accompanied by the strains of the song he had indirectly helped into being, and De Lisle in prison could hear the Parisian mob marching back and forth before its walls, singing his immortal composition. Many great men of France who had helped to make the Marseillaise live in history, were conducted to their doom by its inspiring strains.

At Choisy-le-Roi, where De Lisle died, a fine statue to his memory was erected in 1892, the centenary of the birth of "La Marseillaise." The national song of the French nation may be regarded as the world's universal hymn of liberty, for it has been sung everywhere and is doubtless destined to be the greatest of all mankind's legacy of deathless songs.

Auxiliary to Congress Farm Women Organized
in Union South Africa

The first auxiliary to the International Congress of Farm Women has been organized in the Union of South Africa. At the first International congress, which meets in this city October 17, the South African congress will ask for affiliation. A letter has been received at headquarters giving details of the organization at Pretoria and the calling of a congress there October 5 and 6.

The officers of the African congress are: Lady Gladstone, wife of the governor general, Lord Gladstone, patroness; Lady Methuen, wife of General Methuen, commander-in-chief of the South African forces, president; Mrs. Louis Botha, wife of the prime minister and minister of agriculture, and Mrs. Johan Rissik, wife of the administrator of Transvaal province vice presidents; Miss J. C. Van Duyn and Miss I. Lodge, secretaries. Miss Van Duyn is a gold medalist in household science at Macdonald college, Canada, and Miss Lodge is deeply interested in all matters pertaining to women's work. The object of the two Farm Women congresses is to discuss matters of vital interest in rural homes, seeking to make them healthier, happier and more beautiful.

Store Rooms in Burns
Building Ready Oct. 15

It was announced yesterday that the new Burns store rooms will be opened for occupancy October 15. Work is being pushed ahead as rapidly as possible and it is expected that the contractors will be finished with the store rooms at the date given. It is thought improbable that the theater itself will be completed by that time.

REPRESENTED AT CONGRESS

The National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry is to have official representation at the International Dry Farming congress, the greatest agricultural society in the world, at its meeting in Colorado Springs, October 16. Nahum J. Batchelder, master of the National Grange, has appointed John Morris of Golden, master of Colorado State Grange, to represent the national body at Colorado Springs.

TO EXPLOIT CONGRESS AT CONSERVATION MEET

At Kansas City next week, at the sessions of the Third National Conservation congress, a strong boost will be given for Colorado Springs and for the Sixth International Dry Farming congress to be held in the Springs next month. W. S. Dunning and a committee of other business men will go to Kansas City for the purpose. They will take with them 2,000 engraved invitations for distribution to the members of the congress there. On one side the invitations read as follows:

"The Commonwealth of Colorado and the Chamber of Commerce of Colorado Springs invite yourself and ladies to attend the sessions of the Sixth International Dry Farming congress and the First International Congress of Farm Women, Colorado Springs, Colorado, October 16 to 20, 1911."

The other side reads: "The International Dry Farming congress is a society for the cooperative study of practical agricultural subjects so far as they pertain to the development of nonirrigated or drought-affected districts."

"The sixth International convention promises to be the most brilliant agricultural event ever held in the United States."

"The Congress of Farm Women is a crystallization of all movements for the betterment of rural life on the American continent."

"The international exposition of dry-farmed products will be a notable feature of the entertainment for the week."

"There is no more beautiful convention city in America than Colorado Springs, at the foot of Pikes Peak."

Three thousand of these invitations have been issued, and it is planned that the thousand remaining after the Kansas City convention will be used at the Public Lands convention in Denver the first week in October. It is expected that the work of the Dunning committee will have a good effect on the attendance at the big convention here.

Sisters Principals
in Double Wedding

A double wedding was held yesterday noon at the home of Mrs. Alice Thomas, 410 East Kiowa street, when Miss Lucy Maudie Kern was married to James T. Chapin, and her sister, Miss Elsie Alice Kern, became the wife of John J. Brimacombe. The young women were on their return trip to Nebraska from a summer's visit in California, and had arranged to meet the bridegrooms at the home of Mrs. Thomas, aunt of the brides. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kern of North Bend, Neb., parents of the brides, were present at the wedding.

Will Start Campaign
in Behalf of Missions

In response to a call by the City Federation of Missionary societies, heads of the Women's Missionary societies of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou, and the wives of ministers of the churches of the three cities, met in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the DeGraf building yesterday afternoon and organized for a vigorous campaign in the Pikes Peak region next month in behalf of the missions. The campaign will start October 4 and continue until October 14. It is thought that great interest will be aroused among the women of the churches.

The City Federation of Missionary societies called this meeting at the request of the National federation, which has asked the missionary workers in all the cities throughout the country to organize for this purpose.

Personal Mention

H. R. Nissley of this city is spending several days at the Chalfonte hotel, Atlantic City, N. J.

Mrs. Whitfield H. Hoagland and daughter, Miss Helen Hoagland, leave next Saturday for Kansas, where they will visit relatives before returning to their home in Duarte, Cal.

Mrs. Jasper N. Beatty and daughter, Miss Ruth Beatty, 466 North Weber street, will return home about October 1, after a stay of several months on the Pacific coast.

Miss Matt Draper, 1908 North Tejon street, has joined her sister, Miss Lulu Draper, in southern California, and they will spend a year or more with relatives.

Mrs. W. W. Price, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. McFerran, and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Price, will go to Denver this afternoon and be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Hunter at the Brown Palace hotel for a few days.

Theodore S. Greene of Providence, R. I., is guest at the Antlers while on a two months' tour of the west and northwest. Mr. Greene was a college mate of Mrs. F. W. Goddard's son, the late Henry Leonard Goddard, and Mr. Greene has been entertained by Mrs. Goddard during his stay in the city.

DEBATING CLUB AT THE Y. M. C. A. IS PLANNED

Within a few days, steps will be taken by the educational committee of the Young Men's Christian association for the organization of a debating club to include not only those directly connected with the association, but also the men of the city generally. Such a club was for several years a strong feature of the Y. M. C. A. work, and at the time drew into its membership many young men who have since become well known attorneys in Colorado Springs and elsewhere. One of the objects in reviving such a club is to give similar opportunity to young men who either are studying law or are thinking of so doing. This, however, is only one of the objects sought, for the need of some organization which will be a kind of intellectual "clearing house" for the discussion of important political and social questions, is recognized.

It is possible that dinners will be held from time to time, at which prominent men will give addresses on political or other subjects of public interest. The date of the meeting to organize this new club will be announced in a few days, according to the promoters, and all interested in taking part in the work are invited to be present.

Plan to Install Bibles
in Colo. Springs Hotels

Members of the Gideon society are in Colorado Springs looking over the field preparatory to installing Bibles in the local hotels. It is part of the work of the society to place Bibles in the hotels throughout the country. The organization is composed of traveling men numbering 8,000 members.

A. B. T. Moore of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and H. P. Meyer of Denver are the men interested in the work in this city. Mr. Moore has been in Colorado several days and has just completed the placing of Bibles in the Denver hotels. He is president of the Christian Commercial Travelers' association of America.

SEEK REQUISITION PAPERS

An application for requisition papers for the return to California of Andrew F. McFarland, held at the police station here, was made to the governor of California at Sacramento, yesterday morning. Miss Ethel Groom, a former wife, brought charges several days ago against McFarland, charging him with the embezzlement of $10,000.

Thomas Murphy, detective of the San Francisco police department, is on his way to this city to take charge of McFarland, and he is expected to arrive this evening. A message from Ogden, Utah, says that a Miss Ethel C. Groom and Andrew F. Farland were married there January 31, 1911, by John V. Bluth, a Mormon elder, and a deputy county clerk, a few minutes after they obtained the license.

In San Francisco, the mother of Miss Groom says that an annulment of the marriage was obtained March 23, after Miss Groom found that there was another wife living in San Francisco.

At the city jail, where McFarland is held, he still maintains that the proceedings are attempted blackmail. He insists that he never married Miss Groom.

"I have nothing to say in regard to the matter of extradition," Mr. McFarland said. "We can talk about that later. I am leaving everything to my attorney, R. L. Chambers."

"I am not in a position to say now whether a fight will be made regarding McFarland's return to California," Chambers said last night. "It is my understanding that the governor of California has not asked for Mr. McFarland's return, and until he does, we do not want to say what we intend to do. I would not want to repeat, though, the statement that McFarland would leave Colorado Springs without a legal fight."

DRY CLEANING

The Elite Laundry has added a department for that class of work.

The California district leads in oil production in the United States, according to an exchange.

BUSINESS IS FLOURISHING

Hotels of the city are registering a large number of commercial travelers each day. Most of the traveling men are here on their regular fall trips to Colorado Springs, and they report business here as flourishing. In seasonable lines, such as men's clothing, hats and shoes, a decided increase in buying has been made, indicating that local business is sturdy and growing. While the growth of business in other lines has not been so great, gossip about the hotel corridors evidence a healthy condition in all mercantile branches.

A Safe, Quick Way to Clean Silver

(Recommended by the Gold Dust Twins)

Instead of scouring and rubbing each piece of silver after each meal, put the silver in a separate tin by itself; cover with lukewarm water, to which a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder has been added. Set the pan on the range until the water gets to boiling point; lift the silver out, wipe each piece with a soft linen cloth and polish with a chamolite skin. Silver that is seldom used should be wrapped in Canton flannel.

PLAN WATER AND SEWAGE SYSTEM FOR BROADMOOR

Plans are being devised by the Stratton trustees for an adequate sewage and water system in the Broadmoor district. The increasing number of residences in that section of the city has made necessary a sanitary sewer system and a large water supply, both for irrigation and domestic use. The projected Myron Stratton home at Broadmoor must also be considered. The details of the plans have not been learned, but Architect George E. Barton is at work upon the proposition.

It is probable that the water from Cheyenne creek and that above Seven Falls will be confined in reservoirs, to be built shortly. The reservoir above the falls will be so constructed that only the overflow water will be caught, not disturbing the regular volume of water which feeds the Seven Falls. It is thought that this system of reservoirs will hold more than a sufficient quantity of water to supply both the domestic and irrigation needs of the residents of Broadmoor. The approximate cost of the work, as outlined, will be $100,000.

It was given out yesterday that the Broadmoor hotel and casino have been placed upon the market for sale or lease.

TRUSTEES MEET TODAY

There will be a meeting of the trustees of the Union Printers home at the building today. J. M. Lynch of Indianapolis, president of the International Typographical union; J. W. Hays, Indianapolis, secretary; L. C. Shepard, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Anna Wilson of Washington, D. C.; W. H. McKee, New York, and Thomas McCaffrey of this city, trustees, will be present.

Redfern Corsets are decidedly distinctive—the aristocrats of the Corset world. Their many merits can better be described by our correspondents than they can be set forth by us in type. Motives of economy have forced the abandonment of the use of whalebone by all American Corset makers doing a widespread business, and the substitution of various forms of covered steel. The Redfern Corset is thus left in a class by itself, and is the only Corset on the general market that can meet the demands of discriminating women who know and appreciate lightness, flexibility, comfort and perfect fit in a Corset of absolutely correct design.

Question Validity of Highway Appropriation

Work on the roads of El Paso county has been checked temporarily by the announcement of the illegality of a legislative measure which provided an appropriation for road work and bridge building. The final reading and call on the bill was not journalized, and this fact, it is said, invalidates the measure. Convicts have been stopped from their work on the public roads, owing to the lack of funds. It is probable that the supreme court will pass upon the legality of the bill.

INTERESTING LEGAL POINT AT ISSUE IN DAMAGE SUIT

The employee liability act will be given a thorough test, probably this week, when the case of Andrew Duke against the Portland Gold Mining company of this city comes up for hearing in the United States circuit court of appeals at Cheyenne, Wyo. Duke, who worked for the company, sued for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. The district court gave him judgment for half the amount and the company appealed.

Treasurer Also Takes Up Work of Secretary

His work at the college is being attended to by W. W. Eastlethwaite, treasurer of the institution. No one will be chosen to take Mr. Tucker's place, since the work has been combined with that of the treasurer.

The Theater

BILLY (SINGLE) CLIFFORD

As in the instance of Billy (Single) Clifford, the legitimate stage is constantly recruiting from the vaudeville stage. Mr. Clifford is one of the best known and most popular actors on the variety platform and he has been a headliner for many years. But the demand for good actors on the dramatic and comic stage has been great, and the supply has not kept up with the demand. The result is that variety has had to relinquish some of her brightest players. This season Mr. Clifford is starring in a new musical fantasy in two acts called "The Girl, the Man and the Game." It is a farce with a plot with many complications, but it has other features to recommend it, for it is packed with knows no other. She grows up in the atmosphere of vaudeville and time. Her mother's spirit lives in her and she becomes her worthy successor as a star of the sawdust ring. The reckless abandon of her riding brings her grief.

HAS BROKEN ALMOST EVERY BONE IN BODY

When Manuel De Frates, the young equilibrist whose act is a feature of the Majestic bill this week, balances himself on two legs of a chair which is the topmost of several piled on tables standing one above the other, and then, making every move with the most infinite caution, gets his feet safely under him on the frail, uncertain structure, everyone sits in anxigood songs, and they are sung as only Billy Clifford can sing them.

The story of the piece in brief concerns an eccentric man, who has great wealth, and his rolicking nephew. The uncle is traveling abroad, and while there sees a photograph of an American girl. Straightway he proceeds to fall desperately in love with the young woman. Then he sits down and writes to his nephew about her, and asks him to find her and make a proposal of marriage for him. The nephew finds the girl and falls in love with her himself. He writes to his uncle that the girl is lovely, drinks and smokes, and is not a fit companion for him, and that ends the love dream of his uncle. But it seems that the uncle had insisted that his nephew should marry and settle down, and on the condition that he did, the uncle promised to send him money. The nephew thereupon proceeds to say that he is married and has one child and the uncle sends the money regularly, all seems well.

Then the uncle takes a notion to return to America, and the nephew is at his wit's end. Finally he prevails upon a friend's wife to pose as his spouse and a child is borrowed to add to the deception. As may be imagined, any number of ludicrous situations develop, and the fun is fast and furious. By dint of clever ruses the young man worms himself out of the difficulties, and everything ends well. Mr. Clifford plays the role of the young nephew, and it gives him a bright, brisk and entertaining part that fits his style to perfection.

"THE CALL OF THE CIRCUS"

"The Call of the Circus," which Theodore Lorch will present at the Opera house this afternoon and night for the last time, is a wonderful play, with a wonderful record. A circus story, wherein strongly contrasting characters meet, mingle and make a tale of absorbing human interest. The play is presented with an elaborate scenic equipment and wonderful circus features.

Charming and fascinating, petite Amy portrayed by Miss Cecil Fay, the "circus riddin' girl," is born of generations of circus folk and when her mother, the greatest rider of her day, dies a victim of her own ambition Amy is left alone. But she is not without friends, for the property foreman, with a heart as generous as the breadth of his great shoulders, and the clown, adopt the human rife and foster her like a delicate flower, and their devotion to their ward is one of the most charming touches of the story.

The circus is Amy's world. She

Hyomei for Catarrh

World's Greatest Remedy Free From Corrosive, Opium and All Habit Forming Drugs.

Start right now, before the cold weather comes, to kill catarrh germs and get rid of catarrh. It's the best time.

Blashe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-mei). It is made of Australian eucalyptus, thymol and other antiseptics, and besides destroying the germs it soothes and heals the sore, raw membrane and prevents mucus from forming in the air passages.

Breathe it a few times a day. It's an easy and pleasant treatment and results are quick and certain.

HYOMEI is guaranteed for catarrh, asthma and catarrhal distress. It comes back a complete outfit, including hard rubber inhaler, costs $1.00. Extra bottles if afterward needed cost but 50 cents. All druggists.

ous fear lest by some slip—and the very least little slip would do it—he loses his balance and is precipitated to the stage below. And everyone gave to himself that such a fall would be sure to mean serious injury.

Everyone in this case is right, for as De Frates explains, it is not so much a case of being injured by the distance he would drop—some 20 feet in most cases, although perhaps not more than 15 on the majestic stage—as by the fact that he could not clear the pile of chairs, which he would carry down with him in a tangled mass. De Frates knows, for in the performance of this and other similar equilibristic acts, he has broken almost every bone in his body, on one occasion fracturing an arm, a leg and his collarbone, with a couple of ribs thrown in for good measure, all in one fall.

The act which De Frates is performing is totally different from anything in the equilibristic line ever seen here before; in fact, there is no other performer in vaudeville attempting the same stunt, and as an exhibition of poise and cool nerve it is remarkable. The same stunts which he does on the stage, he has performed on the tops of high buildings in various cities where if his nerve deserted him for an instant he would be dashed to instant death, and the only difference in his stage performances is that he can count on escaping with a few broken bones in case of a fall.

Four other high-class Sullivan and Considine acts, the Rex motion pictures "Greater Colorado," and the orchestra program complete an entertaining bill. Performances at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:15. Admission only 10, 20 and 30 cents.

RESUME MILITARY DRILL?

The boys at the High school will hold a meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to consider plans for reorganizing the High school battalion and resumption of military drill. Until the last few years a well-drilled battalion of cadets was the pride of the school, but recently interest in this has lagged and the organization was disbanded.

F. H. Dunnington, '25, one of the charter members and organizers of the battalion, addressed the students yesterday morning on the value of this drill, and urged the meeting this afternoon.

ENTERTAINS AUDIENCE WITH FRENCH READING

Madame Augusta Helein entertained a large audience by her French dramatic reading in Bemis hall Saturday afternoon. Madame Helein has selected the play written by Maeterlink "Ariane et Barbe-bleue," as her subject. Her readings were interpolated with explanations and studies of the author and his effort. The play is similar in its story to the old nursery story of "Blue Beard." The reader took occasion to praise the Belgian writer in glowing terms.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR MADISON TRIP

H. E. Hill, traveling passenger agent for the Union Pacific lines, was in Colorado Springs yesterday, making final arrangements for the transportation of the Colorado college football squad to Madison, Wis., where the team will play the University of Wisconsin, October 21.

The squad will leave over the Denver and Rio Grande railroad for Denver, October 18. From Denver they will be transported over the Union Pacific and Northwestern lines to Madison. A special car will be provided for the trip.

HENSLEY LEAVES CITY ON BIG HUNTING TRIP

With a view to bringing to earth "Old Grouch," a bear that is famous to sportsmen throughout the country, Max Hensley, well-known local sportsman, is on his way to the Grand canyon of the Snake river in northwestern Idaho, on an extended hunting vacation. He left Monday evening for Denver. From there he will go to Burley, Idaho, for a week's business trip. At Burley he will meet the other members of the hunting party, including Mayor Mansford of Salt Lake City, and Eugene Du Pont of Wilmington, Del. of the Du Pont Powder company. L. P. Lawton, who with Mr. Hensley for the state championship at trap shooting, has been given full title so as to defend the Spaulding cup.

SIGHTS A TRAMP COMET

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—Father Martin Brennan, S. J., priest-astronomer, has sighted a tramp comet which he terms a real publicity seeker, as its all may be plainly seen with opera glasses. The head, or nucleus, is visible to the naked eye, just to the south and west of the star Chubian, which is a nautical and lay parlance is known as the "tail of the dog." The head is much larger than that of Halley's comet or others which have been noted in recent years.

Its origin and identity is unknown according to the astronomer, who accredits its appearance as simply another one of the freak formations of the nebulous matter. The comet is easily seen after 8 p. m. and thereafter through the hours before daylight.
